Linda Hill, MD, MPH, is a Professor in the Department of Family Medicine and Public Health at UC San Diego, and the Director of the UCSD/SDSU General Preventive Medicine Residency. She is the Director of the Training, Research and Education for Driving Safety (TREDS), a nationally recognized driving safety center. Dr. Hill is the Medical Director of the Exercise and Physical Activity Resource Center (EPARC), providing research and clinical resources in areas from physical activity to bone health. She is a senior staff physician at San Diego Family Care, where she has practiced and taught for over 30 years.

Nick Macchione is the Director of the County of San Diego’s Health and Human Services Agency, managing one of the largest health and human services networks in the nation annually serving 1 million San Diegans. In 2010 the Agency embarked on a ten-year, county-wide wellness strategy known as Live Well San Diego. This groundbreaking effort is being implemented throughout the region to build better health, encourage safer living, and promote economic vitality for all San Diego County residents.
